E.H.S Grows Bigger And Better

Elmhurst is "Growing Bigger and Better" as it combines scholastic ability and talent and emerges as an enterprising institution of learning. Within its walls are held symbols of wisdom and progress in education. Dedicated teachers strive to pass on their knowledge thus, opening doors to EHS students, giving them the challenge to grow bigger and better with our community, our country, and the world. What has formed our bigger and better growth and given us this challenge? The answer is that we have learned the necessity of two vital elements — time and energy.

We have learned to utilize time. Time rushes with urgency — hours pass, the mind concentrates, an idea forms, the pen moves, and a manuscript evolves. The hands of the clock edge on, ticking away the seconds, the days, the years. As time progresses, our minds grow, broadening horizons and revealing bigger and better rewards. The final reward for time well spent is the hour of our achievement: high school graduation.

We have learned to employ energy. Energy moves Elmhurst to create the cycle of activity. Energy promotes mental development and inspires the mind; energy creates scholarship, leads the team to a victory, and livens the pep sessions. Energy is the potent ingredient encouraging bigger and better growth.

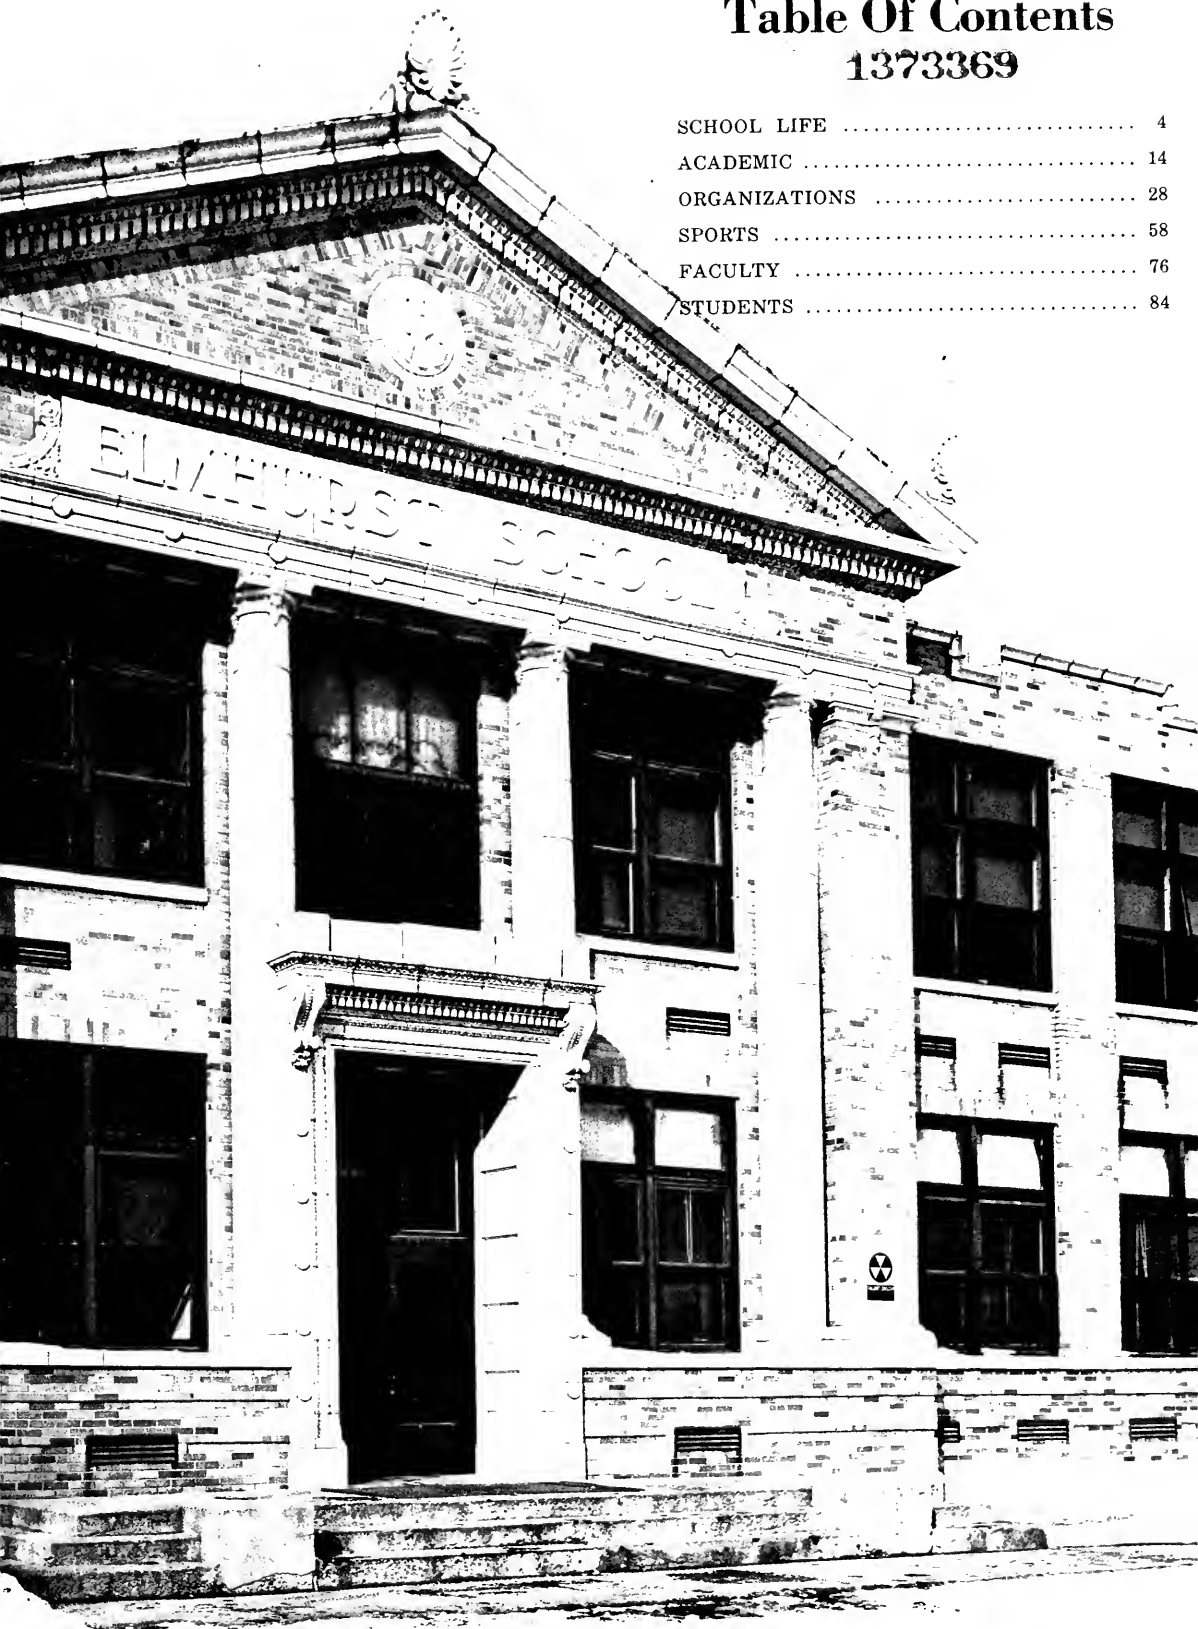

The bigger and better challenge, however, is just beginning. Our past experiences lead on to our present endeavors and cut a pattern for our future encounters. The challenge is ever-present . . . to utilize time, and employ energy. From generation to generation, time reveals the harmony of our thoughts, our dreams, and our victories.

Tragedy

It was approximately 2:30 p.m. on November 22, 1963, and Elmhurst students were in a pep session when the rumor started. At first no one believed it, but then came the shock of realization. The President of the United States had been assassinated and all we had to do was watch our T.V. screens to be convinced of the fact. Most of us grew up a little bit then because, faced with the inevitability of death, we became increasingly aware of the reality of life, life as John Kennedy lived it, intensely. He was a young man and we are young; an active man, we are active; a courageous man as we long to be courageous. But time goes on, and because he died, we must remember that we who are alive are by destiny rather than by choice the watchmen of the walls of world freedom. We ought not to ask what our country can do for us, but what we, together, can do for our country. He would have wanted it that way. Let us begin.

This scene changes as students hasten to their cars.

E.H.S. Uses Many Modes Of Transportation

The 3:15 bell rings and 2,074 running, walking, dragging, scurrying feet pour out the doors of Elmhurst to invade the school buses and automobiles as teachers and students catch a ride or walk to their respective homes. This latest population explosion, created by the influx of new students, has resulted in a crowded parking lot and standing room only on many of the buses. Often students who ride a late bus can be seen waiting in various homerooms for the driver to deliver the first load and return for them.

Many E. H. S. teens from varying townships ride buses to and from school.

E. H. S. presented "The Mouse That Roared."

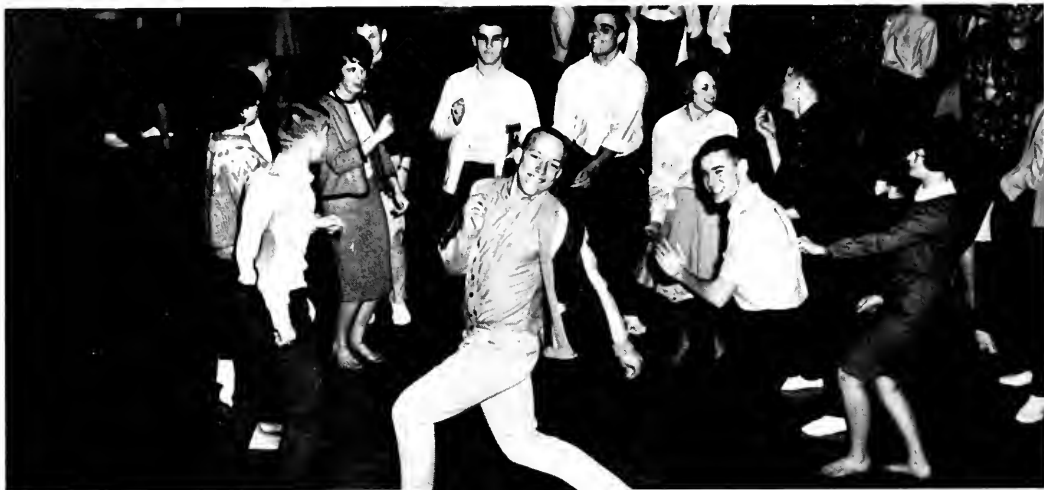

Students Display Ability In Dramatics

The house lights are out, the curtain goes up, and the play begins. However, the audience sees only the actors, students, who, hard-working as they may be, should not be given the entire credit for the success or failure of a play. Behind the scenes, there are many who contribute to the production such as: the stage managers, make-up artists, scenery crew, directors, playwrights, and promptors, all of whom help to make the play a success.

Included in the yearly activities of Elmhurst are an assortment of plays, musicals, and concerts. Into these productions are channeled all the concentrated efforts of the cast and those students who work for one period every school day designing and erecting sets. The outcome is well worth the effort because Elmhurst productions are distinguished throughout the city for their workmanship in the set construction and plot interpretation.

Students construct sets for E. H. S. productions.

Organizations often sponsor extracurricular activities in order to raise funds.

E.H.S. Teens Employ Energy

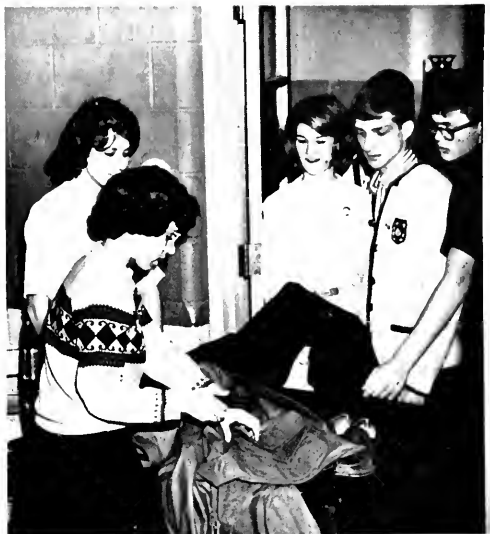

Excessive energy and the ability to remain in a state of constant motion often seems indicative of a teenager. The amount of energy required to complete assignments is but a portion of that available. As a result, active students at Elmhurst High School not only participate in school projects, but also find many extra-curricular activities to occupy any spare time they might have. These outside interests provide excellent opportunities to make friends and often are a deciding factor when the choice of a life-time profession presents itself. The same student who is seen in the library working on a term paper on Friday afternoon can be seen in a variety of places on Friday evening. Fort Wayne provides an assortment of evening and daytime entertainment for teenagers, guaranteed to keep them busy.

Club members support various functions in order to assure successful activities.

Many distinguished speakers participate in E. H. S. assemblies.

Students deposit their coats before entering a dance.

Teenagers often supplement allowances by after-school jobs.

After the games, many teens enjoy getting together at their favorite drive-in.

Elmhurst fans loyally support our team.

Loyalty Is A Key Word At Elmhurst

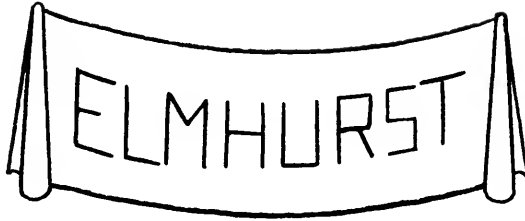

The echoes of "We got spirit" reflect the feeling of pride in the heart of every Elmhurst Trojan. A continuous backing by the student body is formulated by a boys' cheering section and the girls' Booster Club. Sometimes a faculty member will come forth with a burst of enthusiasm which will surprise even the most extreme extrovert. Our spirit is displayed in many ways. New cheers are constantly being written by our cheerleaders for use at pep sessions. Our attendance at home games has always exceeded the expectations of faculty and parents alike, and the attendance at the away games has been sufficient to boost our team on to many victories.

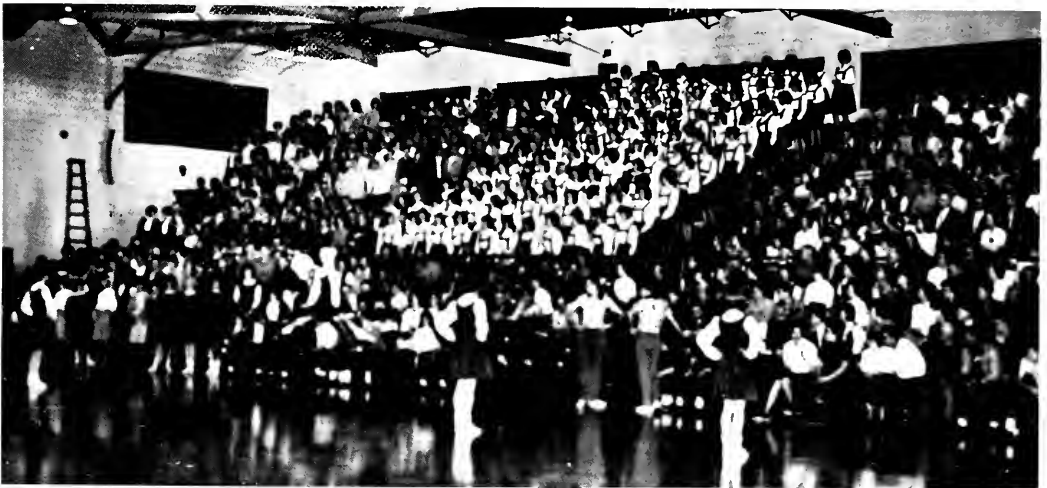

Coaching a team requires skillful observation.

Adults, too, are caught up in the excitement of the game.

Student leadership unifies school spirit.

It was our memorable night of nights — we had planned, dreamed, and schemed, and now the hour of our Junior Prom had come. We checked one more time to make certain that our invitations were safely with us, glanced one last time into the hall mirror, and suddenly stepped into reality as we walked proudly to meet our date.

It was at the After Prom Party that we no longer felt the pressure of formality and the mood changed as we began to dance. Drowsy, sleepy-eyed, and out to prove that we were grown up, we headed for an unforgettable hayride. At sunrise we invaded tables heaped with food to begin the last of our festivities. Even now, we are full of memories to be cherished throughout the years.

Voted the sweetheart of the class of '64, Queen Peggy Kirsch reigned supreme.

This Was Our Night Of Nights

Fairest of the fair, Darinda Kast was voted Prom Queen of the Class of '65.

Elmhurst teens enjoy the formal atmosphere of the Junior Prom.

Many students find interest in the study of living things. Here the students examine aquatic life.

Students calculate their own horsepower in this physics experiment.

Chemistry students obtain a valuable store of knowledge that may be useful in the future.

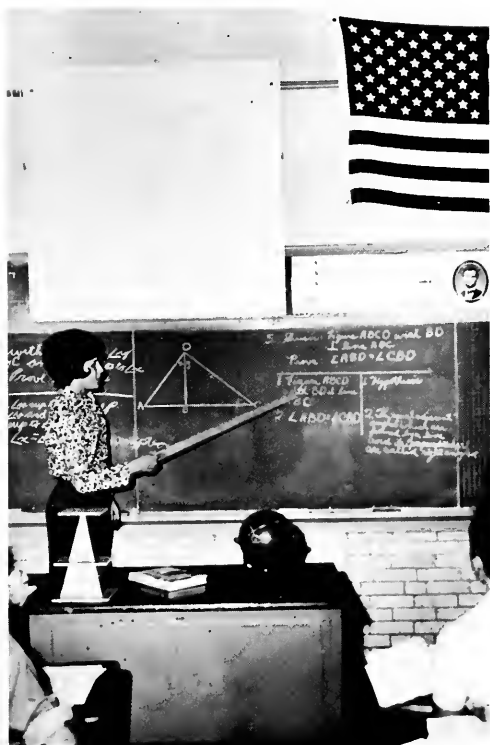

Students Study

In Elmhurst's Science Department, teachers are showing students horizons that have been discovered and offering unexplored vistas as a definite challenge; therefore, students interested in studying many forms of life may find biology interesting. However, for those interested in study revolving around the smallest particle known to man, the atom, chemistry may offer the widest interest. Physics, the science exploring universal forces and energies, offers an explanation of movements in the universe.

An integral part of our Math department, Algebra is a basis for higher mathematics.

Exacting Sciences

Our students' quest for knowledge of the tangible and intangible numbers is being answered by our efficient mathematics department. They delve into the discoveries of mathematics that are listed as being among the greatest achievements in the history of mankind. As you go through life, you will see the importance of these discoveries and their effect on you.

Mathematics is a very significant part of the universe because it is the tool with which many of the universal problems are answered. To answer these problems thoroughly, mathematics is separated into several areas. Those offered at Elmhurst include Algebra I, Algebra II, college algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, and trigonometry.

If a student is enrolled in the mathematics department at Elmhurst, he will be exposed to college preparatory mathematics. This training is being done to challenge the students to make logical decisions. It is up to these future mathematicians to discover and improve upon these worlds of mathematics.

Geometry consists of more than theorems, it is a course in basic logic.

Trojans Prepare For Business World

EHS teens work in the administration section of the school.

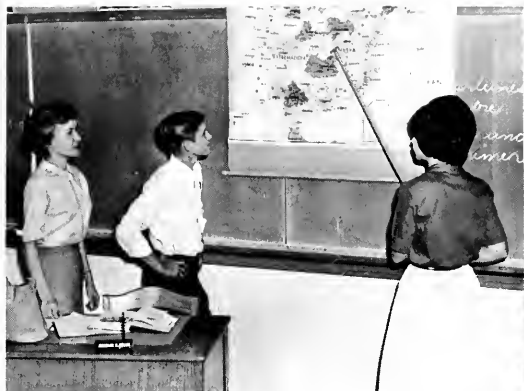

Believing in a thorough education, EHS possesses up-to-date equipment.

The commercial course at Elmhurst is helping to prepare students for the expanding business world. Therefore, EHS has hired well-trained teachers to instruct its commercial students in their chosen courses.

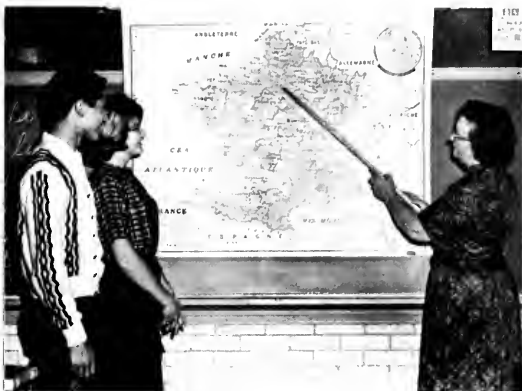

To be enrolled in a commercial course at Elmhurst, a student has a choice of the following electives: Bookkeeping I and II; business mathematics; Shorthand I and II; Typing I and II; and, office practice in various departments.

Learning to become a part of the business world, typists put their commercial talent to work.

"It's right there," says Mrs. Foelber to Spanish students, Rosie Herber and Dennis Crevinston.

Students study the history and geography of France as well as the language.

Ancient Languages Are For Modern Teens

The foreign language department has undergone several promising revisions this year. The most significant of these revisions is the expansion of the Spanish course to three years. This expansion has paralleled the growth of our school and community.

A student may find a characteristic in a course in the foreign language department which would induce him to enroll in that course. A prominent characteristic of each subject is listed with that subject below. For the romantic-minded language student there are two courses offered, French I and II. While the more historically inclined student is offered Latin I, II, III, and IV. The more adventurous student may enroll in either Spanish I, II, or III.

Conjugations and declensions are necessary fundamentals in learning Latin.

English Is The Key To Effective Communication

Outside reading is sometimes done during classroom time.

English is a vital tool of communication in the modern world in which we live. Success may largely depend upon our understanding and knowledge of the English language.

EHS realizes that English has never been more important than it is at the present; therefore, the English department enlists the services of a well-trained teachers' program of literature and grammar, thus, increasing the students' abilities to use the English language properly and effectively.

The variety of literature read comprehensively and widely by college-bound pupils covers a wide range. Speeches, essays, and book reports are assigned to give students the opportunity to make use of their knowledge. The great demand for proficiency causes Elmhurst to excel in English and literature.

Speed and accuracy are important in this student's speech before the class.

Hard work is always a part of any Elmhurst English class.

Drama done in pantomime requires skillful interpretation.

Teachers often assist students in daily assignments.

Diagramming will help simplify a complicated sentence.

World History is a basis of understanding other nations.

Teens Delve Into History

The study of history is as important to the modern student as the study of sciences, mathematics, or English. It makes us aware of the happenings of the new world and helps us relate these happenings to those of several centuries ago.

The Elmhurst student is required to take three years of social sciences. During these classes, pupils absorb knowledge that is passed on to them by the staff. This knowledge is used by the recipient to better understand the world and our own United States. The classes offered at Elmhurst are general history, United States history, government and either sociology or economics depending on where the pupil's interest lies.

Various educational aids help make subjects more interesting.

Sociology, the study of human relationships, is primarily a senior course.

In Preparation For College

The general history classes learn about the history of the world all the way from early man, through two World Wars, and up to the recent rocket launchings.

U.S. History is a class that enriches the student's knowledge of a great historical value of events that have occurred in our country. Our government classes teach us about our government, its foundations and its make up, while sociology and economics classes teach us how to get along with others and how to organize our economy.

The aim of these classes is to make us aware of the important events that occur all around us each day — events that help us grow!

Economics is important for any college-bound student.

Senior students study the heartbeat of our nation.

Students taking shop get valuable training.

Students not college-bound often pursue a career in industrial arts.

Practical application is a "must" in this class.

Our school, though primarily known for its academic pursuit, offers an excellent vocational course; this is industrial arts.

For a student interested in actual shop training, there are several subjects from which he may choose: beginning wood, advanced wood, and metal shop. Those who are interested in the designs of modern civilization's structures are offered Drafting I and II.

This department has undergone a faculty change and is reaching an even greater height of instruction. This quality of instruction is making Elmhurst's industrial arts department better.

Learning to operate various types of machinery is important.

Valuable Training Precedes Future Vocations

These girls are learning the basic fundamentals in the art of homemaking.

At Elmhurst we believe that being well prepared for home management is very important for the career girl as well as the one with marriage in mind. Throughout the year, the girls in the Home-Ec Department learn the basic fundamentals of preparing a simple meal formula and basic sewing principles. They advance from this to more challenging projects. The department works toward the goal of graduating girls well-equipped to handle the rigorous and sometimes brain-racking job of caring for a modern home and family.

The Home Economics course at Elmhurst will prepare girls for their future roles as wives.

EHS teens participate actively in the musical programs.

Culture Plays A Part

The Elmhurst music department aims to produce students who are not only academically but culturally well-prepared for today's world. Society has shown a greater demand for the well-educated person who has a good concept of music.

Elmhurst offers membership in various musical groups. Included in these are the dance band, for those who like music with a danceable beat; concert band, designed to appeal to the intellectual mind; and marching band, for those students who enjoy music of this nature. Other activities include participation in various parades, contests, and basketball and football games.

Various music classes are taught throughout the day.

Creativity is an important trait for an artist.

In Education

Down through the ages, art has been a means of communication and historical record. The history of art consists of names as well-known as Van Gough, Rembrandt, and Picasso. These men were famous because they managed to convey to the public their innermost thoughts and impressions through pictures. These impressions, set down on paper in the form of pictures, have been treasured for centuries because they represent art in its highest form.

In the high school art department, Elmhurst students work in just such a fashion recording thoughts in the form of pictures. There are four separate art classes taught. Each presents a graduated study to the student desiring a cultural background.

Art teaches valuable lessons in ingenuity and comprehension.

Physical education is a combination of fun and physical fitness.

Physical Education Is Necessary

Games encourage good sportsmanship and friendly competition.

Feminine screams and laughter heard from the girls' gym or male shouts and applause coming from the boys' gym are a good sign that an Elmhurst physical education class is in session. This department places great emphasis on co-ordination and exercise for those students who are enrolled in physical education.

In keeping with national concern at the present about physical fitness, Elmhurst physical education classes have emphasized good regular exercise as the key to good health. There is additional accent being placed upon exercise for relaxation and for pleasure, two necessities of life in our growing modern world.

Daily exercise is a basic fundamental.

Many students "let off steam" in gym class.

For Physical Fitness

In keeping with physical fitness students exhibit intricate stunts.

Athletics will keep these girls slim and trim.

Educational recreation is the predominant theme for this department.

Newly Organized Student Council Heads Activities

The extra-curricular activities at Elmhurst High School maintains an excellent balance between the social and the academic life of the students at Elmhurst. This variation in the student's school life was not only designed for benefit of the student, but also for the benefit of the school. These activities seem to improve the student's attitude toward his school and the school's attitude toward the student.

Many of these activities resolve around a specific subject or course. On the other hand, several of the activities are based on the idea of helping the community and preparing the student for when he becomes a member of this community. The newly organized Student Council does an effective job of this preparation.

Fairer Sex Keeps Physically Fit

The Elmhurst Girls' Athletic Association allows its members to "let off" some creative steam through their activities. The girls who are members of this organization meet during the fourth lunch period on Monday and Wednesday and the fifth period on Tuesday and Thursday.

"The object of G.A.A.," stated Mrs Doswell, the club's sponsor, "is to provide supervised recreation."

Activities in which the girls participate are bowling, archery, shuffleboard, volleyball, and many other sports. As an added activity, a splash party is given during the year.

The girls receive letters by earning 200 points. Those who are active enough and earn 230 points receive a G.A.A. pin. Ten points are awarded for every six noon hours and for attending after-school meetings.

Nature Club's Theme Is 'Experience In Nature'

The theme of Nature Club this year is "Experiences in Nature." Members are given the opportunity to gain new and varied experiences through the efforts of this club. Letters, pins, and guards are awarded to members for their meritorious work. This year the club belonged to the Acres Group and the Audobon Nature Group. Many interesting films on such topics as an elephant hunt in Africa and the conservation of animals are available to members. The extent of information is not limited to films alone, reports by members and interesting talks by well informed speakers are given.

Red Cross Promotes E.H.S. Goodwill

The Red Cross Safety Council began this year by following the theme "Growing Bigger and Better" by selecting eight new members from the sophomore class. As the Council's first project they organized a Traffic Court. Council members watched for offenders of the driving rules and bus regulations which had been set up; then, the offenders were tried before a judge and jury consisting of Council members. This Traffic Court helped to eliminate parking lot accidents and traffic problems.

The Red Cross Council also has many other responsibilities during the school year. It is in charge of the hall monitors and the candy workers, who receive Red Cross points toward a letter for their work. The Council also plants and cares for the flowers which add to the beauty of the school. Also, this organization sponsors the annual National Junior Red Cross Drive for senior high school membership. As an added pleasure, those who join the Elmhurst Red Cross Club are able to attend the Red Cross Dance. These responsibilities which the Red Cross Club has acquired have proved that Elmhurst is indeed growing bigger and better both socially and academically.

The word "Phi-Chem" is the "key" that opens many doors throughout Elmhurst. This is because of the tradition Phi-Chem Club has acquired in the past and the progress being made at the present time. This combination of tradition and progress is due in great part to the efforts of the sponsors, Miss Wimmer and Mr. Gwaltney.

There are two outstanding awards that can be earned in Phi-Chem Club; one would be the National Academy of Science pin. This pin is obtained by attending all of the club's trips to local industries. The other is the earning of a school letter. This is done by selling soft drinks for the Phi-Chem Club at basketball games.

Home Ec Club Offers Training For Homemakers

An avid participant in the Home-Economics Club of Elmhurst High School is apt to find herself spending an hour or two touring a furniture factory, or preparing succulent baked goods for one of the many scheduled sales, designed by the club to assist in the financial commitments. The interesting meetings of the club will often feature a variety of speakers, ranging in occupation from a hospital dietician, or interior decorator, to a representative of a well-known charm school. The club spends many creative hours designing and making accessories for the home, or donating money to needy families in and around the Fort Wayne area. This purposeful organization has been created as an attempt to promote further interest in home care and management and instigate a better quality in future homemakers.

The Home Ec Club has a bake sale occasionally through the year.

The Commercial Club at Elmhurst offers many advantages to the business student by providing the insight to seek and learn all that is available for them. It also presents an opportunity for students to become acquainted with the happenings of the business world.

In interesting and informative meetings held at various times throughout the year, members of the Commercial Club have the privilege to hear speakers from prominent organizations in our community. This year something new has been added; pins can now be earned by members who participate in the activities of the club. At the end of the year, a banquet is held and awards are presented at this time.

Anyone enrolled in bookkeeping, shorthand, typing or office practice is eligible to join Commercial Club. This club gives students an insight to the careers of the business world they may wish to pursue.

‘Learn From Past’ Is Classical League Theme

“We, the members of the Classical Club, strive to pass on the torch of civilization in the modern world. We believe that an acquaintance with the civilization of Greece and Rome will help us to understand and appreciate the world of today which is indebted to ancient civilization in its governments, laws, literature, languages, and arts. To seek truth, to cultivate an appreciation of the beautiful, to find joy in work well done, all these we believe to be worthy of our efforts.”

This is the pledge of every conscientious student who is taking Latin I, II, or III. These students through hard work and study achieve a greater knowledge of the language and the country. In spite of all this, they do have a lot of fun and the year is topped off with the annual Roman Banquet which is held in the spring.

Visual Education Supervised By Projectionists

The Projectionist's Club is composed of twenty members, all boys. During their study halls and lunch hours they show films, film strips, run recorders, and record players. For each of their duties, they get one point. After accumulating one hundred points, a letter is awarded. Winners of letters from last year are, Glenn Ruby, Bud Skinner, Bob Bradley, Dick Rhoad, and Terry Coker. For any member who shows only fifty films, a pin is awarded: while a chevron is awarded for every one hundred films after a letter.

A list of the equipment used is as follows: four, sixteen mm. round projectors; three, eight mm. film strip projectors; five record players; three tape recorders; and two overhead projectors. Thirty films are shown each week, an average of six a day; thus, keeping Mr. Sinks and his assistant Bob Bradley very busy. Bob forfeits an hour each day in Room 116 preparing passes to be issued to the projectionists for the following school day.

Future Educators Learn Of Vocation

Future Teachers of America is a national organization. The Elmhurst chapter has 57 members whose advisors are Mrs. Decker and Mr. Yost. The F.T.A. was organized to encourage high school students to develop the character and personality necessary for teaching. The purpose of the F.T.A. is to familiarize any junior or senior who is interested in teaching with the teaching profession.

The activities throughout the year were the introduction and recognition of the new teachers, the fall convention held at Elmhurst on November 2, 1963, the basketball banquet in the spring, ushering for "Back to School Night," and the State Teachers convention in October. The F.T.A. and P.T.A. combine to give a $200 scholarship to some senior member of F.T.A. who is going to college to become a teacher.

E.H.S. Cheerblock Backs Trojan Team

Booster girls enthusiastically back the team at our annual sectionals.

Girls' Booster Club forms "E" to greet visiting teams.

If you have ever attended one of Elmhurst's home or city series games, you have undoubtedly noticed a group of enthusiastic girls boosting our Trojans on to victory. These girls make up the Booster Club whose main function is to support our teams; however, the Booster Club is also responsible for selling pop corn at all home games and for buying the cheerleading uniforms. The uniform dress this year for the boosters is long-sleeved white blouses with red suspenders. Another distinguishing factor is that the girls use flash card routines which is very impressive to onlookers.

The first Constitution for this club was composed this year, stating the number of points to be accumulated to earn a letter and a pin, the reasons and total of demerits before dismissal, and it states the functional purpose and requirements of membership.

The advisors this year are Mrs. Billard, and Mr. Weber. Both of these people have proved to be very successful in attempting to make our Booster Club the best around.

They Let The Team Know

Our vivacious Varsity cheerleaders who are picked by the Booster Club in the fall, are Barbara Thorne, senior; Barbara Burke, senior, Sherry Krinn, senior; Connie Greeno, junior; Nancy Bolyard, junior; and alternate, Sandra Hostetler, senior. These five girls did a fine job of representing our school as one of the best.

Our reserve cheerleaders also picked by the Booster Club, are Linda Byers, sophomore; Barb Venus, sophomore; Georgia Welch, sophomore; Sharon Smith, sophomore; and alternate Susie Friedman, sophomore. These girls did an excellent job of working out cheers for their first year of being together.

Both Varsity and Reserve cheerleaders should be commended along with Mrs. Billiard and Mr. Weber in planning and conducting Pep Sessions.

The Reserve cheerleaders may become next years' varsity cheerleaders.

The Varsity cheerleaders are letter perfect.

There Is Little To Spare

The Elmhurst Student Bowling League teams meet each Monday after school at the Village Bowl from 4:00 p.m. until 6:00 p.m. This club offers activity and healthful exercise as well as fellowship and pleasure.

As an incentive, there are many annual activities in which the Bowling League participates. The Holiday Tourney at Christmas is a highly enjoyable event; and in the spring, there is a banquet when members receive awards which they have earned for activities throughout the year. Each week during the League's activities the highest scoring girl and boy bowlers receive free theater passes.

"The Marching Trojans" is a very active and colorful organization which is composed of seventy-five members and sixteen twirlers. The season begins with Summer Band Camp which is preparation for the football games. Preparation starts for the basketball games after the end of the football season. The band as a whole performs in contests and in addition, single members and groups prepare for the Northern Indiana Solo and Ensemble contest held in the spring. The band is supported by a very active Band Booster organization. It sponsors three sock hops a year and other fund raising activities. In the spring, a banquet is given for the graduating seniors.

As a part of Elmhurst activities, the choirs perform at school functions, present concerts, and play an active part in E. H. S. music productions. Northern Indiana Solo and Ensemble Contest is participated in by numerous members; often resulting in the privilege and honor of their participating in the State contest in Indianapolis. Suitable music of all types is studied and programmed. Aspects of music composition, theory and history are explored and studied.

However, the Concert Choir is a major portion of the music program at E. H. S., and as such, it has many opportunities to perform throughout the community. The annual appearance of the Concert Choir at the Baccalaureate service is one highly prepared for event. A banquet is held in the spring in honor of the Seniors.

Elmhurst Trojans Learn Effective Communication

The National Forensic League and Forum. Elmhurst's extra-curricular speech organizations, are making efforts to distinguish Elmhurst in rhetorical work. These groups are being directed by Mr. Kent Kurtz.

The National Forensic League is mainly affiliated with the speech group of this organization. One may become a member of this league according to the number of speech contests participated in and won. Some of the sections of this speech group are: extemporaneous, oratory, original oratory, and poetic and dramatic interpretation.

The Forum is the debating group of this organization. The members of Forum may become members of National Forensic League on the basis of the number of debates won. This debating group is divided into the varsity and the junior varsity.

Kathy Spice receives a well-deserved award for efficient effort.

Students Demonstrate Theatrical Talents

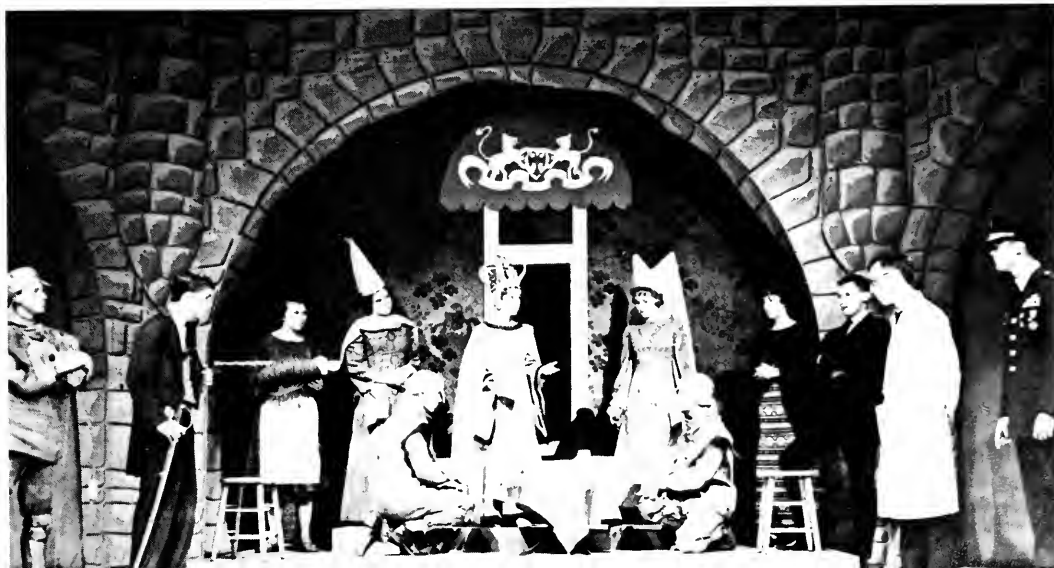

The Dramatics classes, because of so few students, make up the entire Dramatics Club. The year was started with the satirical play "The Mouse That Roared." Under the direction of Kent Kurtz and Don Goss, the play, concerned the mythical Grand Duchy of Fenwick. Fenwick was in great economic distress, and decided to declare war on the United States to secure foreign aid. The play was a success. In the spring, the dramatics and musical departments combined to present the musical production, "Bye Bye Birdie."

A fine performance given by these two members of the South Pacific cast.

This Elmhurst club has 85 members. During the year they had many guest speakers whose topics ranged from social work to interior decorating. Some of their service projects were: making gifts for the Westside Neighborhood Center, wrapping Christmas gifts for the Fort Wayne State School, and holding an Easter Egg hunt for the Allen County Children's Home.

The highlights of the year were the Sadie Hawkins Dance in November, a Daddy-Date night in February (where the girls escort their fathers for a night of fun), and the Mother and Daughter banquet in the spring in honor of their mothers and also when awards earned during the year are presented.

Newsworthy Year Keeps Advance Busy

Following the theme of GROWING BIGGER AND BETTER, this year's ADVANCE staff attempted to maintain newspapers consisting of six pages. The ADVANCE was to be published a total of eighteen times, making it a bi-monthly paper, and at a lower cost than in previous years. This was an attempt by the newspaper staff to set a precedent as background for future years.

This year the ADVANCE staff consisted of fifteen members plus many reporters who strived to establish and maintain up-to-date coverage of scholastic and extra-curricular activities. It was also possible for the ADVANCE editor to attend the Annual High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University. It is hoped that the '64-'65 editor and business-manager will be able to attend this institute also to receive further information and instruction for the future progress of the ADVANCE. The quality and quantity of new and other stories was greatly improved this year as well as the entire construction of the paper.

This year, as in others, Seniors will walk proudly to receive their diplomas, Juniors will feel the thrill of suddenly becoming Seniors, and Sophomores will become upper-classmen. Again, as in preceding years, the laughter, the tears, and fond memories will be recorded for posterity in the Elmhurst Anlibrum, '64 edition. We, the "Annie" staff have become a part of this yearbook; and it has in turn become part of us. We have felt the heartbeat of Elmhurst in ways never imagined and have, as a staff, endeavored to record facts and fantasies which we feel will hold delightful memories in the years to come. Whatever reason may prompt you to open this book in the future, perhaps a moment of curiosity or a yearning to remember, for that moment you will relive the '63-'64 school year. We the staff, dedicate to you the student body, the 1964 Anlibrum.

"Annie" typists are Sandy Bunsold, Sharon McConnell, and Diane Rankin. The business staff consists of Kenny Collier, Business Manager; Carol Kokosa, Head Bookkeeper; and Sharon Lee, Junior Bookkeeper.

Sport Scene Is Important At E.H.S.

Elmhurst participates in interscholastic competition in such sports as: football, basketball, cross country, track, tennis, and golf. Boys have an excellent opportunity to demonstrate their abilities in any one or more of these sports. They also learn the true value of sportsmanship. Elmhurst is also hoping to broaden its athletic program in the near future by adding more sporting events in addition to the new facilities next year.

The Sophs' turn-out for the '63 football season was unusually good for a school that had been so unsuccessful in previous football seasons. At first the small but hard working sophomores lacked the fundamental skills of the game; but as the year progressed, the young "men of Troy" showed improvement in the dust bowl of the Trojans' gridiron.

Although the reserve squad had a rather hard-luck season, losing many games by only one touch down, they improved enough to pick off their last two games of the season. In these last two games the sophomore Trojans put together fine defensive and offensive plays to show the Central Catholic Irish and Concordia Cadets that the Trojans could play as well as any other team they might have gone up against this year.

Mr. Athan and Mr. Yost, the coaches of the sophomore team, kept the spirit of the young men going. Those reserve coaches deserve much credit for a job well done.

New Coach Sparks Men Of Troy

The Fighting Trojans, although they had an unsuccessful year, were a much improved team over the previous season of play. Under the coaching of "Skeets" Hoover and Gene Melchi, the Trojans were able to put up a fine battle against most of their opponents. The 1963 season was the rebuilding year for the Trojans.

One of the highlights of the season was the naming of Steve Churchward to the NEIAC team. Ted Barker received an honorable mention for his efforts during the season. These two Trojans also received honorable mention for the All-City team. The year was concluded with the annual football banquet by the parents of the team members.

Reserve Team Boasts Best Season

The 1963-1964 reserve basketball team had an excellent season under the coaching of Mr. Athan. The reserve squad won the Holiday Tournament during Christmas vacation by defeating the Concordia and North Side reserve teams. After Christmas the reserves lost only one game. Overall the team won thirteen games and lost seven.

The reserve basketball team is important to the sophomore and junior boys in preparing them for varsity play. The boys learn basketball fundamentals and gain valuable experience. The reserve games are played as preliminaries to the varsity games.

Trojans Win First City Crown

The tall and talented Elmhurst Trojans, who finished the season with an impressive 13-6 record, shared their first City Championship with Concordia this season. Each team had identical 5-1 city records, with Elmhurst defeating Concordia and losing to C.C. The Varsity team also lost only one game in Northeastern Indiana Conference play and finished second to Concordia, who also lost only one but played more games.

Other highlights of the season were the naming of Bob McGregor and Tom Mullans to the All-City Team. Dan Glass, Don Johnston, Dave Dahman, Hal Smith, and Dave Dean received Honorable Mention. Bob McGregor also made the first team of the All-Conference team with Dan Glass and Tom Mullans being named to the second team.

Tom Fuhrman scored 155 points to become the reserve high scorer. He had an 11.9 points-per-game average.

The Trojan hardwood coaches "boost" the team in waning moments of victory

Bob McGregor flips the ball in as Dan Glass and Ted Barker ready themselves for a rebound.

Don Johnston lays the ball up as Bob McGregor and Dan Glass rebound.

Johnston, Bob McGregor, Dan Glass (behind the shooter), and Dave Dahman.

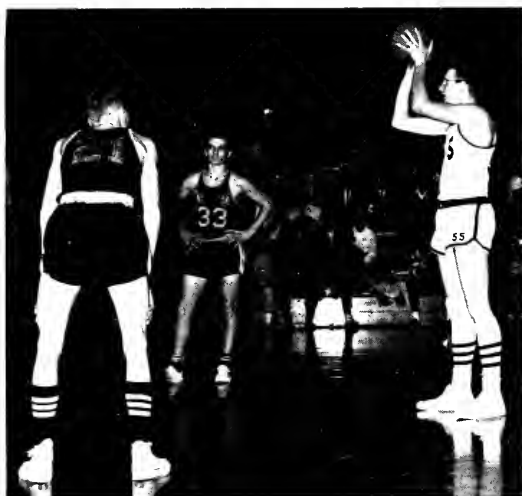

Dan Glass scores an easy lay-up as the Elmhurst cheering block cheers him on.

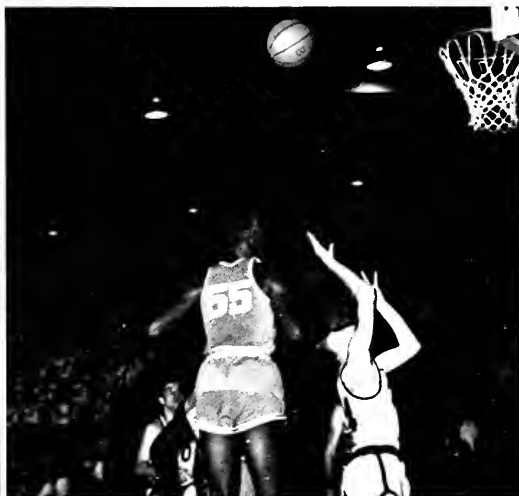

As Dave Dahman watches, Ted Barker chalks up two points in the Berne game.

Dave Dahman screens for teammate Rocky Finlayson in the Huntertown game.

Tom Mullans shoots a free throw in the Monmouth game.

Dan Glass shoots in the season opener. It was the first time Elmhurst had ever defeated Central.

Tall Greg Robers tips the ball to Tom Mullans. Rocky Finlayson, at the right, watches.

Roundball Men Receive Many Honors

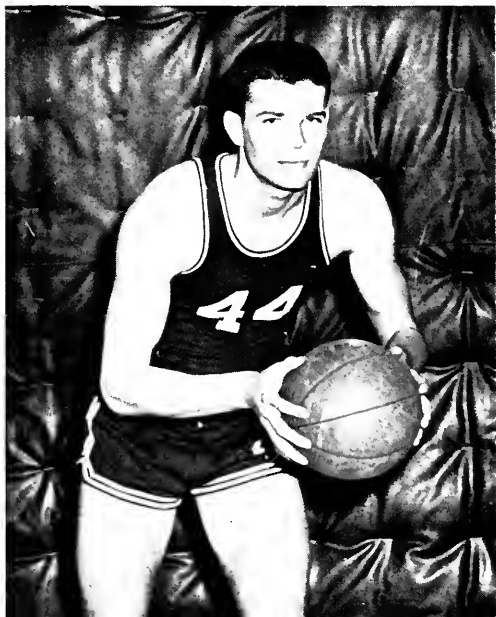

Mr. Geyer, head basketball coach, was named Coach of the Year by the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

These boys received honorable mention for the All-City Team. They are : (top) Ted Barker and Dan Glass, (middle row) Hal Smith and Don Johnston, and (front row) Dave Dean and Dave Dahman. Dan Glass was named to the second squad of the N.E.I.A.C. team.

Bob McGregor was selected to the All-City Team and to the N.E.I.A.C. first team.

Tom Mullans made the All-City Team and the second team of the N.E.I.A.C.

Trojan Harriers Record Fast Season

The Trojan cross country team had a semi-successful year with a record of four wins and eight losses in the regular season meets. The leading runners were Lynn Armstrong, Ron Lunz, Don Johnston, Heinrich Mueller, Nick Jaworski, and Terry Woolums. During the season both Lynn Armstrong and Ron Lunz ran the two-mile course in ten minutes.

In the Northeastern Indiana Conference, Elmhurst placed fifth among the nine participating schools. Finishing eighth out of 63 boys, Ron Lunz received a bronze medal. In the sectional, which included teams from 27 schools, the Trojan runners placed tenth. Lynn Armstrong finished sixteenth among the 162 boys running in the sectional.

With the return of several top runners next year, the fall 1964 cross country squad should perform well.

Mr. Spencer, coach of the Elmhurst harriers, starts the meet with Kendallville held at Franke Park.

Track Season Excellent; Records Fall

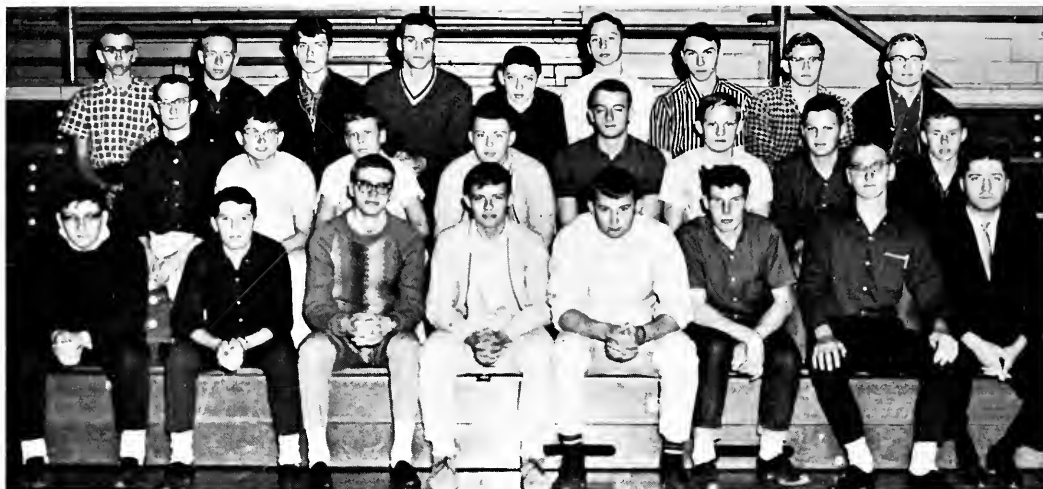

Sixty boys reported for track practice this season, many of them with varsity experience as: Russell Grose, Terry Coker, Darrell Gerke, Don Johnston, Bob McGregor, Heinrich Mueller, and Dave Vervalin.

Mr. Spencer, the varsity coach, feels that this squad, with its depth could yield a winning season plus many new school records. Cited as good prospects are: Tom Mullans, Steve Jackson, Ron Lunz, Chuck Hamrick, Rocky Finlayson, Bob Stark, John Ferguson, Terry Kimbel, Bruce Wolfe, Ted Barker, John Stinnett, Ronnie Uhrich, Tom Fuhrman, and Denny Graham.

Mr. Spencer also cited records he expects to fall this year — the two dashes (100 and 220), the 440, pole vault, mile relay, low hurdles, half mile run, and mile run.

It took long hours of conditioning to prepare for the grueling competition out on the E. H. S. track.

From the athletes above, Mr. Werling successfully chose the "Top Eight" who competed in twenty-four matches during four weeks of links competition.

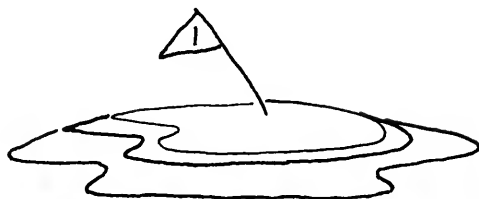

Iron Men Have Busy Schedule

The Elmhurst "Iron Men" embarked upon a rigorous schedule this year and, as most Trojan teams have been characterized, they "never said die." Though Elmhurst's golfers had to cope with a demanding schedule, they appeared to have emerged as better men and golfers for having done so. The proof of this is best typified in a brief study of the 1964 season record. The record indicates a steadily improving and frequently brilliant team that is experienced at the "mastery of the links."

The course that the Trojan "Turf Trodders" practiced and competed on has never been noted for inducing a relaxed game. The EHS golfers will testify to the fact that the Brookwood Golf Course is one of the finest courses in the area.

The man who gave so generously of his time, talents, and golf knowledge was Mr. Nicholas Werling, the coach. Mr. Werling is quite well known on the area sports scene, as well as on the Elmhurst sports scene. This team and this man compose a fine climax to a successful season.

Many boys interested in golf came from all over the area to this clinic, featuring three top professionals from Fort Wayne.

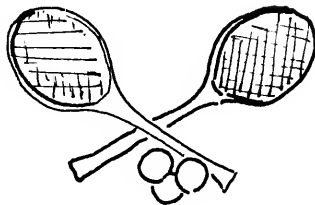

From the above twelve candidates came the six men who represented E. H. S. in ten hardcourt matches, which included all the city schools, this year.

Tennis Introduced At Elmhurst

1964 marks the year of the first Trojan tennis competition. The first match was held on April 16 and the season closed on May 14 with 10 matches being completed. The team attempted to prove that love of the game would help keep love out of their score. Matches were held with all of the Fort Wayne high schools on a double round robin basis.

Here Mr. Kurtz shows Dave Dean exactly how to hold the racket for best results.

They Enrich Our Lives With Knowledge

The faculty of Elmhurst High School is known throughout the field of education for its successful efforts in maintaining Elmhurst's high academic standards. These standards have been established and maintained through the combined co-operation between the faculty and the students. Through these combined efforts, the faculty is helping the students reach even higher zeniths of accomplishment in academic and community work. For these deserving things, Elmhurst faculty, the Anlibrum of 1964 salutes you for a job well done.

Mr. Lester Grile, as the superintendent, represents the backbone of the Fort Wayne Community Schools.

Mr. Charles Eickhoff, who serves as our principal, has done an exceptional job of raising Elmhurst to its highest peak.

Administration

The administration of Elmhurst High School headed by Mr. Lester Grile, Superintendent of Fort Wayne Community Schools, and Mr. Charles Eickhoff, our principal, have made noteworthy advances for the improvement of Elmhurst High School as a leader in education. Through these advances, there are many capable people who have been cast in very important roles in making Elmhurst the pillar in education that it is. All of these people contribute to making up our distinguished administration.

Miss Ruth Wimmer, our Dean of Girls, willingly aids girls of all grades and capably fills her position.

Mrs. Grace Pennington, Elmhurst's guidance counselor, readily counsels all students of EHS in order to help them solve their problems.

Mr. Robert Zimmerman, who serves as the Dean of Boys, is always ready to listen to and talk with any boy at Elmhurst.

Mrs. Julia Shaw, secretary to Mr. Eickhoff, works energetically to keep the office running smoothly and effectively.

Mrs. Jean Sark, guidance office secretary, helps to maintain order and efficiency in the guidance office.

We Are E.H.S.

A school is not merely four walls, a blackboard, and a lot of desks. It is a living, breathing being dependent on the energy and talents of its students. We are the students of E. H. S.: Seniors facing unknown futures; Juniors yearning to be "Big Seniors;" and Sophomores relishing the first tastes of high school responsibilities and independence. We are different in every respect—in appearance and personality, of all faiths and backgrounds, held together by one common bond, our school. Whether we count the days to graduation or look forward to the next year of high school activities, we can not deny that EHS is a big part of each of our lives. Here we have experienced the joys of triumph and the tears of defeat, the comfort of friends, and sometimes, the heartache of loneliness. From these experiences we hope to have grown in wisdom and understanding. Whether or not we feel that Elmhurst is truly a "school without peer" makes little difference. Elmhurst is, and was, and always will be our school, for we, as its students, are E. H. S.

Class of '64 . . .

Seniors are measured for caps and gowns as they prepare for the final step in their high school career.

We the class of 1964 are an active class—always interested in a variety of activities including: sports, dramatics, music, art, service projects, journalism, dancing and parties. Through these many interests we have proved that we can and want to accept responsibility. Looking back on our high school years we find them crowded with events and friendships that will long be remembered. We have become increasingly concerned about our futures and seek answers to the questions that arise. We, the graduating seniors of Elmhurst High School, readily accept the challenges confronting us such as: further education, new jobs, or perhaps marriage. We feel that we have received the best training possible, here at Elmhurst, for the years to come.

Need We Say More!

Some seniors will go on to further their education and enter professional fields.

Other seniors will find their future vocations in the field of industrial arts.

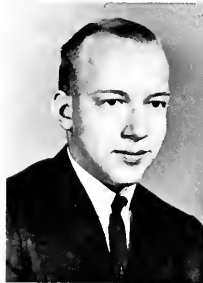

Most senior girls will make their careers in the home.

In the guidance office seniors may find information concerning their future occupations.

Senior Scholars Receive Recognition

This year Ann Kariger was chosen Valedictorian, and Harold Pinnick was chosen Salutatorian. The Trojans at Elmhurst wish to commend these two people for their outstanding display of those traits necessary to become the great intellectual leaders of tomorrow.

Ann Kariger is this year's valedictorian.

We at Elmhurst are exceedingly proud of the students who make up our Honor Society. This is as it should be; for those awarded membership in the National Honor Society must exhibit certain traits in order to qualify. These traits are scholarship, leadership, character, and service.
